Last Minute Overhauling Of Work-Relief Machinery Is Ordered by Roosevelt

FULL UTILITY LOBBY PROBE IS PROMISED

Claim Millions Spent To Stop Utilities Measure

By Thomas J. Hamilton, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, July 3.—(AP)—A last-minute overhaul of work-relief machinery, apparently intended to promote bigger local contributions, answer critics of "another GWA" and spotlight Secretary Ickes' role, today was ordered by President Roosevelt.

His classification of public works and works-progress projects, which virtually eliminated the duties of Frank C. Walker's applications division, was reported authoritatively to have been forced by the general belief of states and communities that they could get better terms from Harry L. Hopkins than from Ickes.

The order, signed by the work-relief triumvirate as well as by the president, routed most applications for projects costing $25,000 or more, as well as low-cost housing and loan applications, to PWA. Hopkins' agency will receive applications for white-collar work, less expensive construction projects, and those which though costing more than $25,000 are adapted to unskilled labor.

This change, however, only decided the question of original jurisdiction. The order said applications rejected by PWA "shall be submitted immediately to the works progress administration."

In explanation of a step taken after the $4,000,000,000 program had approved the "make or break" month, officials recalled the recent decision that the work relief fund would supply only 45 per cent of the cost of non-federal PWA projects.

This decision, taken to bring them within the $1,143 average available in federal money for each job created, left most states and cities with the necessity for raising the remaining 55 per cent. Although some will receive loans from PWA's revolving fund, this was known to be inadequate to match the entire $300,000,000 authorized as grants.

With the borrowing capacity of most cities exhausted, state works progress administrators have been overrun with applications while comparatively few have been made to PWA. As an example of easier works progress terms, Hopkins today approved projects for Alabama, Georgia, and Indiana costing $70,000,000, of which only $13,300,150 will be supplied by state and local governments.

Chairman Rayburn, (D., Tex.), of the House interstate commerce committee told newspapermen during the day that he believed a million dollars had been spent to stop the utilities bill. He declined, however, to comment upon the projected investigations.

Earlier, Philip H. Gadsden, chairman of the committee of utilities executives, asserted that the companies he represented were merely protesting their "constitutional rights," that they, fight had been "perfectly open, open and above-board."

It became apparent during the day that the movement in the Senate to adopt the Roosevelt-opposed House bill without sending it to conference might lead to a nip-and-tuck vote.

For the most part, senators and representatives appeared little inclined to speak publicly today of what the projected House or Senate lobby inquiries might show.

ARREST SUSPECT FOR KIDNAPING OF AUGUST LUER

Man Believed To Be Lloyd Doyle Taken At Joplin, Mo.

Joplin, Mo., July 3.—(AP)—Sheriff Paul Liles of Newton County announced this afternoon tentative identification of a bank robber suspect in jail there as Lloyd Doyle, indicted in the August Luer kidnaping at Alton, Ill., in 1933.

The man gave his name as Frank Ralston, 35. He is accused of participating in the robbery yesterday of the State Bank of Seneca, Mo.

Arrested last night, he was suffering from a bullet wound in his left arm, presumably inflicted, officers said, by cashier R. L. Hughes of Seneca.

Sheriff Liles said he and Hughes identified Ralston as Doyle by a department of justice circular and photograph. Department of Justice agents were notified and fingerprints were sent to Washington, Liles said federal agents told him they believe his prisoner is Doyle.

Edwardsville, Ill., July 3.—(AP)—Complete identification of a man held at Neosho, Mo., as Lloyd Doyle will result in prompt efforts to return the prisoner here for trial on a charge of kidnaping August A. Luer, Alton, Ill., banker, County Prosecutor L. M. Geers said today.

"We sure want that man," exclaimed the prosecutor, when informed that officers have tentatively identified Frank Ralston, 35, an alleged bank robber, as a fugitive long sought in connection with the 1933 abduction of the aged Alton banker.

At Neosho Sheriff Paul Liles said his prisoner had been identified as Doyle through a Department of Justice circular and a photograph, and that federal agents believed he was the alleged kidnaper.

Giving the name of Ralston, the suspect was arrested last night at Racine, Mo. He was suffering from a bullet wound, believed by officers to have been inflicted yesterday by R. L. Hughes, cashier of a bank at Seneca, Mo., during a holdup.

Doyle, according to Prosecutor Geers, is the last man sought in connection with the kidnaping of Luer in July, 1933. A woman suspect, Gracie Chase, still is at large.

Seven persons already have been convicted and sentenced to prison for the offense. One of them, Walter "Irish" O'Malley, alias Walter Holland, pleaded guilty last June 26 and was given a life sentence. He was arrested a few weeks previously in Kansas City.

Doyle is alleged to have guarded Luer while the banker was held in an underground dungeon on the farm of Mike Musiala, in Madison County, Illinois.

Merton Ward Goodrich, Trunk Slayer, Confesses to Police He Killed Lillian Galaher

Confesses He Murdered Eleven Year Old Girl

By B. L. Livinstone.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
New York, July 3.—(AP)—Trapped by a tell-tale fingerprint record, Merton Ward Goodrich, 28-year-old, confessed today to the slaying of 11-year-old Lillian Galaher in Detroit last September and voiced readiness to return to Michigan with Detroit authorities who rushed here by airplane.

His confession was obtained by Detectives William O'Brien and Raymond Henshaw and Assistant District Attorney Abraham J. Gellinoff, and was announced by Henshaw.

The sallow-faced, 27-year-old trapper, whose police record shows three separate incarcerations in an Ohio institution for the criminal insane, was arrested yesterday on a disorderly charge under the name of Raymond Johnson while acting indecently at a children's playground.

While he was waiting to be remanded to jail today on a disorderly conduct charge, to which he pleaded guilty, police discovered his fingerprints tallied with those of Goodrich. The confession followed swiftly, and his immediate return to Detroit was ordered.

Goodrich's 28-year-old wife, who fled with him to Canada after the Galaher child's death, was questioned by detectives and officials said, admitted her identity. She was charged with homicide on the basis of an indictment reported returned against her in Detroit.

A brunette, tastefully dressed in a white silk summer outfit, she acknowledged to detectives that her husband confessed Lillian's death to her, but that she stayed by him because "I loved him."

Goodrich was indicted for murder in Detroit when it was discovered he disappeared, without taking even personal effects, after Lillian's body was found jammed in a trunk in his apartment.

The law worked swiftly after a check of police fingerprint records told its story. In a few hours the district attorney's office had Goodrich's confession.

Confronted casually in the detention pen of the west side jail as "Goodrich" by Detectives William O'Brien and Raymond Henshaw, the prisoner uttered a few weak denials and then broke down.

"I guess you know me all right," he said, slumping back wearily, "and I'll tell you what you want to know. I admit I killed the girl on September 20, 1934, in my rooming house."

According to the detectives and assistant District Attorney Abraham J. Gellinoff, Goodrich said he enticed the girl to his room on the plea of helping him take some books to the library.

Then, he was quoted saying, he attempted to attack the child, but she became frightened and ran for the stairs. In flight, she tripped and fell, hitting her head and becoming unconscious. Goodrich said, according to his confession, he then gagged her, put her in a bath tub, and finally jammed her body in a trunk.

"I met my wife, Florence, on the street," detectives quoted him saying, "and I said: 'Sweetheart, there are a couple of fellows following me. I am afraid they are going to take me back to Lima to finish my rap.'"

"I said: 'Let's blow town.' Then we hitch-hiked to Boston."

His wife, Florence, detectives said, told a different version of the flight. She was quoted saying that when she came home on the day of the slaying she noticed blood stains around the apartment, and asked her husband for an explanation.

"Let's go to a movie," was his only answer, she said.

Turning from the theater, according to the story she told, Goodrich told her a little girl selling punch board chances had come there and had fallen and hurt herself. She insisted she did not know it was murder then.

It was planned to take both back to Detroit tomorrow morning, since they waived extradition. Goodrich was held at police headquarters for the night.

MRS. VANDERBILT LOSES FIGHT IN SUPREME COURT

High Tribunal Rules Gloria Will Stay With Aunt

New York, July 3.—(AP)—Bluntly ascribing mercenary motives to Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt's fight for custody of her heiress-daughter, the appellate division of the supreme court today denied the dashing widow of Reginald Vanderbilt the full claims of motherhood upon 11-year-old Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt.

In a unanimous decision of the appellate judges, the court upheld the decision of Supreme Justice John F. Carew awarding principal custody of the child to Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, her paternal aunt.

"The reason which the relator (Mrs. Vanderbilt) offered in explanation of her conduct seems to us entirely unconvincing and inadequate, said the opinion written by Associate Justice Irwin Untermyer.

"Not until the allowance, which was provided for the child's support, appeared to be endangered by the fact that the child no longer lived with her does the relator appear to have manifested any strong desire for her daughter's companionship."

Noting judicially that Mrs. Vanderbilt has relegated her daughter to a "life of neglect and loneliness," to which the little heiress protested bitterly, the opinion said that Justice Carew "adopted what appears to us the only possible course."

The appellate judges then dropped a word of advice to Mrs. Vanderbilt.

"In the meantime, if the relator still avail herself fully of her rights under the order she will spend more time with her child than for many years past."

Justice Carew, advised of the decision upholding him, smiled and declared, "then it must be right."

The terms of the lower court's ruling, which made little Gloria a ward of the state, gives Mrs. Whitney custody five days a week and Mrs. Vanderbilt the week ends and the month of July. Since the sensational seven-weeks custody hearing Mrs. Vanderbilt has been awarded her annual allowance of $48,000 from her daughter's $4,000,000 fortune.

Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia Declares He Is Opposed to War With Italy

PROPERTY MAY BE RESTORED TO HAPSBURGS

Austrian Cabinet Has Voted To Return Wealth To Otto

Editor's note: Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia says he wants no war with Italy—but Ethiopia will defend herself to the last bitter ditch, confident of victory in the end, if war comes.

Amid unconfirmed reports of another serious Italo-Ethiopian frontier clash, the colorful king of kings and conquering lion of Judah outlines his firm stand against any sort of concession to Benito Mussolini in the following article, which he wrote especially for America and handed to the Associated Press correspondent at Addis Ababa in an audience in his new palace yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon.

By Haile Selassie I, Emperor Of Ethiopia
Copyright, 1935, By The Associated Press

Addis Ababa, July 3.—I have been asked if I believe in war as the solution of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict.

My answer is: Ethiopia never has desired war nor desires war now, because war destroys progress.

The present conflict, for which Italy used as a pretext the Usual incident (a border clash late last year in which 30 Italians and 110 Ethiopians were reported to have been killed), is in no wise chargeable to Ethiopia because it is established by diplomatic documents that since August last Italy has been considerably arming her colonies of Eritrea and Somaliland, necessitating a declaration by the Ethiopian Emperor D'Addis Ababa in Rome denying Ethiopian intentions of aggression which pretext Italy used to justify her increased armaments.

In spite of our firm resolution to avoid war, we shall accomplish our duty in the eventuality of war.

It has been suggested that Ethiopia might appeal to other powers, mainly the United States, before war or after its declaration for assistance. The Italo-Ethiopian conflict has been brought before international public opinion through the League of Nations, and the purpose of the American press will expose clearly to the American people our right for liberty and independence.

I learn that press reports in some parts of the world say Mussolini told (Capt. Anthony) Eden (British secretary for League of Nations affairs) that Italy's minimum demands were the expulsion of Ethiopia from the league and an armed Italian protectorate over Ethiopia, an old proverb says "one shouldn't sell the lion's skin before killing the lion."

Concerning an armed Italian protectorate over Ethiopia, an old proverb says "one shouldn't sell the lion's skin before killing the lion."

Only that country which fails to accomplish its duty may be expelled from the league. Ethiopia has always respected its international obligations. The personal opinion of a chief of state, however powerful, cannot disturb us. Only the league, not Italy, can decide as to the exclusion of Ethiopia.

Concerning an armed Italian protectorate over Ethiopia, an old proverb says "one shouldn't sell the lion's skin before killing the lion."

Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg repeated the remark he has often made before—revocation of the confiscation laws merely rights an old injustice. He said all Austria had been aware of this injustice for years, and the cabinet embraced the opportunity to right the wrong done after the World War.

The semi-official Reichspost observed: "It is time to sweep away the rubbish left by the revolution."

TRADE GROUP WILL EXPLORE 'NEW FIELDS'

May Permit Highly Modified Form Of Price Fixing

Washington, July 3.—(AP)—Exploration of "new fields" in business cooperation today was planned by the federal trade commission in carrying out President Roosevelt's injunction to help create voluntary business codes.

James L. O'Neill, acting NRA chief who has been conferring with the commission, said the new plans may extend even to permitting a highly modified form of open price fixing.

As for his own outfit—a "stop-gap" for the once powerful NRA code structure—O'Neill termed NRA a "shrinking organization" whose assistance in code making will be limited to taking "care of anyone who insisted" upon labor provisions in commission codes. He emphasized voluntary fair practice agreements need not contain labor sections.

President Roosevelt told his press conference today he expects commission codes to come within the Sherman anti-trust law. He described NRA's job as doing spadework on labor questions for the commission.

In succeeding NRA as the government's industry organizer, it was learned the commission has been instructed by President Roosevelt to procedure of old NRA. Much care, it was said, will be taken to avoid raising "false hopes."

The extent to which the commission may go in making voluntary codes remained to be developed. For some 15 years it has been making trade practice agreements, much the same as NRA codes without labor provisions, and on a much more restricted basis.

Where NRA granted permission to do certain things under a reprieve from the anti-trust laws, the commission stated flatly what was illegal under these and other acts.

Return Suspects To Olney, Ill.

Olney, Ill., July 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Bess Sager and George Hutson were returned here from Bloomfield, Mo., today to face charges in the death of Luke Graham, Clay City railroad worker, who died June 20, authorities said, after a fight at Mrs. Sager's home.

Mrs. Sager, about 37 years old, and Hutson, 35, were arrested in Missouri yesterday when a sheriff found them hiding in a tenant farmer's cabin.

Sheriff Charles H. West said tonight the two told him Graham, a 61-year-old bachelor, was struck on the head in a fight that started after a drinking party. The sheriff quoted Mrs. Sager and Hutson as saying they hit Graham in self defense.

Sheriff West said he had a rolling train with which Mrs. Sager admitted striking Graham, and that Hutson admitted hitting the man with a brick.

TWO GERMAN ARE EXECUTED FOR ESPIONAGE

Seventeen Have Died Under Headsman's Axe In Germany

By A. D. Stefferud
Associated Press Foreign Staff
Berlin, July 3.—(AP)—Two more Germans too eager to learn or too willing to divulge Germany's military secrets died under the headsman's axe today, bringing to 17 the number of persons executed or sentenced for espionage during recent months.

Heads to roll today were those of Egon Bress, 28, convicted of trying to procure armaments secrets, and Bruno Hindemann, 63, convicted of betraying military information.

Wilhelm Battersch, 48, who was tried with them in the dread people's court, was sentenced to life imprisonment for revealing military information.

Semi-official quarters disclosed that several more persons were awaiting trial, and little hope was held that mercy would be shown them in view of the Reich's determination to keep its rearmament secrets.

Only enough today's double execution came just when somewhat mysterious book sellers were pressing sales of an interesting, bulky volume, "Espionage During the World War," to the "right persons."

Persons visiting the permanent World War exhibition in Hermann Goering Strasse, near Potsdamer Platz, who appear to be German, moderately prosperous, educated and interested in the World War relics are approached by an attendant who asks if they are interested in the book. It sells for about $25.

The visitors are given an opportunity to place orders, but before delivery is made their past records, families, acquaintances, position and financial standing are thoroughly investigated. The reasons given for this are two: The book must not fall into the hands of foreigners, and it must go only to those Germans who can put its contents to good use.

Radio System For State Police Is Being Planned

Seven 1,000-Watt Stations Will Be Installed In Illinois Cities

By Byno E. Tipps.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Springfield, Ill., July 3.—(AP)—Plans for construction of a state police radio system have been completed and are awaiting the approval of Governor Horner, highway officials said today.

Application has been made to the federal radio commission for permission to erect seven 1,000-watt stations. Bids have been received on all transmitting equipment, receivers for automobiles and motorcycles and buildings to house the stations.

"If the present plans are carried out, Illinois probably will have the finest police radio system in the nation," officials declared. "An experiment for the system will be perfected and modern apparatus."

"If the radio commission grants the power requested, the proposed Illinois system will have greater range than any other state system. It is also planned to use towers 321 feet high, which will greatly aid in increasing the range."

The approximate location of the seven stations will be Danning, near Chicago; Sterling, Pontiac, Macomb, Effingham, Du Quoin and Springfield.

Every point in the state will be in range of at least one station, officials said. Broadcasts may be made from the stations simultaneously, enabling all state highway police to receive the same information and assemble quickly in the area where a crime is committed.

The department of public works and buildings was authorized four years ago by the legislature to establish the police radio system. The General Assembly which ended last week appropriated $500,000 for the project.

HUEY P. LONG ADMITS HE IS 'POOR' DANCER

Concedes His Dancing Might Provoke Right To The Jaw

By Lenwood Bowman
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, July 3.—(AP)—Although priding himself on his sartorial appearance and his long-distance speaking, Senator Huey P. Long (D., La.) concedes his dancing might provoke a right to the jaw.

His concession is predicted on an explanation that while on a crowded floor at the fashionable Shoreham dance terrace last night he made the mistake of dancing more on others' toes than on the floor, which caused one dancer to swing a fist at him.

The man behind the swing was Burr Tracy Ansell, local attorney and son of Samuel T. Ansell, former Army judge advocate general and no friend of Long. But young Ansell's account of the incident differed from the senator's.

The senior Ansell has a $500,000 label suit pending in the local court as a result of a speech Long made some time ago on the senate floor assailing the general as counsel for a senate committee which investigated the election of Senator Overton, Long's colleague.

The rumormongers last night was one of the first social mixups that Long has had since the sock-in-the-eye wash-room incident at Sands Point, Long Island. Since then Long has absented himself from most public places of entertainment, but this season has been seen several times on the Shoreham terrace.

Long said he danced only a few times each year and that his dancing was poor, but his companion (a "platinum blonde"), prevailed upon him to try a waltz.

"I stepped on her toes, I stepped on my own toes, and then was stepping on all toes," Long said.

He has a way of barging through the dances as he prances along.

Long said finally one dancer stopped him and asked him what he was trying to do. Long said he told him "that's what I've been trying to find out." Then Long said he apologized.

Ansell's story was that Long came to his table where he and his wife were with a group of friends. Ansell said Long's presence angered him and he arose and swung his fist at the senator but Long ducked and faded away.

Ansell said a man who had come over with Long, grabbed him and held him until Long disappeared. He said the man was courteous and affable and that he dismissed the incident without further thought.

A group that had gathered about the table went back to dancing.

HOW'S THAT FOR PROGRESS?

Behind

In Washington

Hero's Honors in Battle on Shipping Bill Go to Moran of Maine . . . Measure Lashed as Opening Way to Gigantic Treasury Raids . . . Ripped in House, Shelved in Senate.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington.—The portents indicated that the Bland-Copeland merchant marine bill, described by its opponents as a fantastic scheme which would open the Treasury to still bigger and better raids by shipping interests, is sunk.

Much of the credit for licking the bill goes to a relatively obscure, pudgy young congressman—Edward C. "Eddie" Moran, Jr., of Maine.

The almost unparalleled influence of the twin lobbies of the shipping operators and the shipbuilders in Washington has been thoroughly revealed by the Black ocean mail committee, the Farley investigators, and the Senate Munitions Committee.

When this outfit gets licked, that's news. Hardly any newspapermen were present when Moran appeared to attack the bill a few weeks ago, on almost the last day of hearings, before the House Merchant Marine Committee, of which Congressman S. O. Bland, of the shipbuilding city of Newport News, Va., is chairman.

That morning stands out in my memory because I've never seen a congressman subjected to such browbeating and bulldozing as Bland attempted to administer to Moran.

Bland was aided by Lehibach of New Jersey and other friends of the ship industry. But Moran kept doggedly on, attacking the bill, which he branded as "the same old steal," showing how one shipbuilding company alone claimed to have spent $150,000 to put over the Jones-White subsidy act of 1928 and revealing close relations between shipbuilders and members of Congress.

He offered a bill of his own, providing government ownership of the merchant marine and private operation under federal charter—with many stringent safeguards against looting.

Heavy Guns Hit Measure

Two committee members—Brewster, Republican, of Maine, and Wearin, Democrat, of Iowa—subsequently came to Moran's support with a minority report which excoriated the Bland-Copeland bill as containing either nine or ten separate kinds of subsidies, omitting two or three of Roosevelt's most important recommendations for cleaning up the merchant marine scandal, intensifying, magnifying, and perpetuating old abuses, and "donating" to private interests a merchant marine for which the government might be found putting up 85 per cent or more of the funds.

Meanwhile, Senator Copeland of New York was introducing the bill in the Senate, where Wheeler of Montana and Bone of Washington promptly jumped all over it.

The Authority would have blanketed power to open the Treasury to "an unlimited raid by private shipbuilders and private shipping operators." They showed that this board of five men would have unprecedented spending authority without check; that shipbuilding operators could be given brand-new government-mortgaged ships by merely trading in old, nearly obsolete vessels and putting up no money at all.

Mt. Vesuvius Blows
Part of Cone Out
From Crater Today

Hot Lava Flows Out of Crack in Crater; Observatory Minimizes Danger

Naples.—(P)—Mount Vesuvius erupted with a tremendous explosion early today, blowing a piece of its cone from the crater high into the air.

The explosion tore an aperture in the cone from which lava was flowing copiously.

Soon afterward, another opening appeared at the base of the cone. The explosion occurred before daybreak, and the discharge of burning lava and sparks lighted up the heavens for miles.

Residents of Naples rushed to their windows in alarm at the roar of the eruption.

Lava also was flowing from the opening at the base of the cone.

The Vesuvius observatory issued a statement minimizing the danger of the eruption, asserting:

"Vesuvius is in a phase of noteworthy activity which, however, can be termed ideal inasmuch as discharges of steam, gas and sparks are occurring in the interior of the crater, thus preventing accumulation of strong vapor pressure."

"The phase of the eruption is extremely active today as a consequence of which the bottom of the crater is full of rivers of fire."

Today was the first eruptive activity of Vesuvius since June 1933.

COTTON UNIVERSAL
CLOTH IN THE LOW
INCOME BRACKETS

Urbana, Ill.—Cotton was almost the universal fabric used for the dresses of Illinois farm and urban women and girls in income groups of from $1,500 down during 1934. It is shown by an analysis of home account records by Miss Edna R. Gray, clothing extension specialist, at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Even in the higher income groups cottons amounted to a large share of the family clothing supply since good cotton cloth is one of the best wearing fabrics. This increased use of cotton fabrics has been partially because of depression incomes, but may also be attributed to the improvements and progress being made in preshrinking processes, variety of fast colors and better weaves, Miss Gray believed.

With the increased use of cotton comes the necessity of care in buying to get good quality fabrics which will give satisfactory service, Miss Gray said.

Good quality cottons are those which shrink very little in washing, do not fade, have fast colors and are able to withstand wear. When a cotton dress comes out of the tub two sizes smaller than originally and with the colors badly run, it is not only disappointing but is also hard on the family budget. Nor are fabrics that fade in the sunlight satisfactory for summer wear.

Heavily sized fabrics are expensive in the long run, according to Miss Gray. They have plenty of weight and body before they are washed but emerge from the tub limp, frail and practically worthless. While they can be refinished, they are not satisfactory.

The homemaker can be assured of getting quality materials if she will trade with a reputable merchant, buy labeled goods and apply a few simple tests. The reliable merchant not only handles good clothing but also will usually make good on purchases which prove unsatisfactory.

Many cotton garments and fabrics are now labeled as "preshrunk" or "will not shrink" or "guaranteed not to shrink." Since manufacturers have not yet agreed as to definite standards regarding preshrunk material, such labels are not absolute guides.

However, they are indications that cloth will not shrink to any great degree. Only such labels as "fast to sun and washing," "tested," or "Nafatec colors" are definite indications that colors will neither run nor fade.

Rubbing a small corner of the cloth briskly between the hands is a good test for sizing. If little particles of white dust come to the surface, the cloth is probably heavily sized. With yard goods it is better to take a small sample home and test it for sizing by a thorough washing. This can most easily be accomplished by attaching the sample to a dish towel and running it through a regular family wash.

Then not only the sizing but possible shrinkage and running of colors may be checked.

"DOWN WAVERLY WAY" HISTORY
IS RECALLED BY CENTENNIAL

(This is the first of a series of Waverly historical sketches by Mrs. George P. Romang. Waverly, Morgan's second city, will celebrate its Centennial during August.)

By MRS. GEORGE P. ROMANG

The "Range," a log cabin of three or four rooms, a half dozen rudimentary scattered near and a mill—this was Waverly in 1835.

It was on Monday, April 20, 1835, that Deacon Tanner and his family reached this, their destination, having been exactly three weeks on the journey from Warren, Conn.

The log house was built just west of what is now called West Waverly on the old road to Appalonia. Humble though it was, that log house was known for its God-like spirit and became a haven of rest and a stronghold of courage.

The coming of this sturdy New England family was to have a wide influence not only on the future of this community but on this part of the Central West as well. During that first year each Sunday Deacon Tanner called together the scattered families of the prairie and conducted religious services in his own log cabin which one of his daughters had called the Range.

In 1836 a church of eight members was formally organized in the Tanner home. This church, the Congregational, has had a continuous existence and still worships in the original building erected in 1848, the heartstone from the Range becoming the cornerstone of the church building.

It was Dr. J. M. Sturtevant who had first seen the spot where Waverly now stands, in April 1830. He thought the location pleasant and favorable for a town. It was probably due to his influence that the sturdy New England families, now on their western trek, chose this beautiful spot in which to make their homes. What hardships were encountered, what determination it took to lay the foundation of a new life in Central Illinois between the years 1830 and 1840 the men of the present day can have little conception.

Into the Tanner family was born on November 29th, 1837, a son, Edward Allen Tanner, the first child who could claim nativity in the new frontier town of Waverly. Left fatherless at six months, this boy was to develop through years of struggle against the hardships and dangers of a pioneer life. To a saintly mother, this son of pioneer parents looked for guidance. Perhaps it was her tenderness through the years that made the man what he was, sensitive, sound, fearless and God-fearing.

Young Edward Tanner received his early education at the Seminary in Waverly and at the age of thirteen entered the preparatory department of Illinois College at Jacksonville. After he finished school there he taught school for some years "boarding round." Later he taught in the schools at Jacksonville where he met and married a Waverly girl who was attending school there. After some years teaching in the University in Oregon he returned to Jacksonville where he taught Latin in Illinois College, later becoming president of this school.

Waverly has many tender thoughts for those early families and is proud of her rich heritage. There are yet many signs of its New England origin—down Waverly Way.

The notice was directed to Mayor

Mrs. Peters is the only daughter of County Treasurer and Mrs. Perry Shaw of Jerseyville. Rural Church Will Have Rededication Services July 7th

Rev. J.O. Raines Will Preach at Strout Church, Which Has Been Reopened

White Hall—Elder J. O. Raines of White Hall announces the rededication of the Strout Baptist church five miles west of Pearl on Sunday, July 7, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. An all day meeting will be held with a basket dinner at noon, each one bringing his own basket with lunch.

Strout is located five miles west of Pearl on a gravel road, and the dedication services have been postponed from time to time this spring because of high water in the Illinois river which closed the ferry service at Pearl. Elder Raines held an evangelistic meeting at Strout during the winter and revived the church which had been disbanded for some time.

Fine Record in School

Allen Thomas Nash, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Nash who live east of White Hall has a remarkable scholastic record which was recently announced by County Superintendent of Schools, C. A. Whiteside of Carrollton.

Thomas is fourteen years old, and finished the eighth grade in the country school district of New Shiloh, with a school average of 95. He took the eighth grade county final examination the last Saturday in April and ranked third highest in the county, and highest in the White Hall township, with an average of 93, which entitles him to a four year scholarship in any Normal school in the state of Illinois. However he expects to attend the White Hall High school next year. He also has a record of perfect attendance for the past year and won a prize which his teacher, Kenneth Kinser, offered for attendance and scholarship.

Lombardi's Homer In Tenth Wins For Reds Over Cubs 4 To 3

White Sox Come From Behind And Win Game From St. Louis Browns by Score of 5 to 3

Chicago, July 3.—(P)—After spotting an old six, Dick Coffman, three runs in the first inning, the White Sox pounded him for ten hits in six innings and gained a 3 to 3 victory over the St. Louis Browns in the finale of their abbreviated series here today. It was the Browns fifth defeat in as many games here this season. Luke Appling's double with bases loaded in the first and Rip Radcliff's double and Mule Haas' single in the fifth tied the score for the Chicagoans. George Washington then homered at the start of the sixth to decide the game, with singles by Manager Jim Dykes and Merv Shea and an error combining to add the "plush" run a moment later.

Babe Phelps, behemoth-like ex-Brooklyn hurler, turned in his fourth victory in five starts for the Sox by holding the Browns to five hits, one of them an outfield gift.

Derringer Allows Bruins Only Three Hits While His Teammates Gather Twelve

Cincinnati, July 3.—(P)—Ernie Lombardi crashed through with a home run at the start of the tenth inning today to give the Cincinnati Reds a 4 to 3 decision over the Chicago Cubs. Bryant was the victim.

Though they gathered 12 hits to Chicago's three, the Reds barely eked out victory behind Paul Derringer's tight pitching. They loaded the bases with one out in the ninth but lacked the punch to drive over a run that would have ended the contest in regulation time.

Held to but three hits, the Cubs made every one good, with the aid of two Cincinnati errors.

Kiki Cuyler Is Released By Cubs

Chicago, July 3.—(P)—Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler, veteran outfielder with the Chicago Cubs, given his unconditional release today, may continue to wear the spangles of a Chicago club in major league warfare.

J. Louis Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, tonight wired the veteran star in Cincinnati that he was interested in obtaining his services. The veteran star, who spent eight of his fourteen years in the majors with the Cubs, was released in Cincinnati after all other National League clubs had waived on his services. He is 36 years old.

In letting Cuyler go, Manager Charlie Grimm pointed out that the action was along the youth-building lines the Chicago club has been following for the past two years. Grimm said:

"Cuyler was no longer valuable to us as a regular. As starters I preferred to use the youngsters, Frank Demaree and 'Tuck' Stainback. We're building a young club and Cuyler was along in years."

With Hack Wilson, former National League home run king and now a member of the Albany club of the International League, and Riggs (Boss) Stephenson, who is pointing the ball at a .366 clip for Indianapolis of the American Association, Cuyler helped make up one of the most efficient and colorful outfielders in baseball history.

Wilson's 46 home runs set the pace in 1929 as the trio hammered the Cubs into the National League pennant. Cuyler hit above .300 six of the eight years he spent with the Chicago club. His lifetime average in the majors is .313. His batting mark this season is .268.

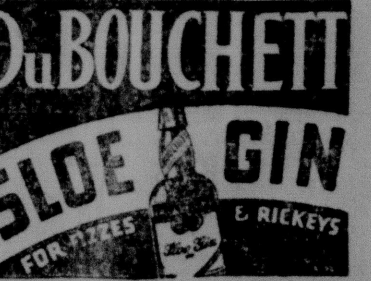

Cincinnati, July 3.—(P)—Given his unconditional release by the Chicago Cubs, Kiki Cuyler said today he plans to sell my services to the highest bidder.

He arranged to talk possible terms with General Manager Larry MacPhail and Manager Chuck Dressen of the Cincinnati Reds, made known he has received overtures from the Phillies and the Braves, and hopes to hear as well from Joe McCarthy of the Yankees.

"There are only a half dozen players in the National League who are faster than me right now," he said. "I aim to sell my services to the highest bidder."

Terry Says Lead is Not Big Enough Yet

Casey Stengel, However,
Sees Race as Battle of Seven Against One

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
New York.—(P)—"If we only had the pitching," began Manager Bill Terry of the front running New York Giants.

"I repeat, if we only had the pitching lately to back up our hitters, we would be at least a dozen games in front. I know that you are going to gasp and say that eight and a half games are plenty, that it's a runaway and all that sort of thing, but it will be all right with me if we can run up a lead of 281 games."

"Suppose we go into a slump? Suppose we skid the way we did last September, losing a seven game lead? A lot of things can happen before we are finished. We are winning all we can now, every day."

Casey Stengel, sitting with Terry, wore a wry grin on his face while the pilot of the Giants had the floor at a gathering of baseball clans. Casey had the last laugh on Bill at the close of the 1934 season. Things haven't gone so well for Stengel and his Dodgers, however, since he convinced everybody that Brooklyn was "still in the National League."

"The question before the house," suggested Stengel, "is whether the seven clubs trailing the Giants are going to stay in the league. When the Giants' pitchers falter, the hitters come through and sew up the game. Sometimes Terry's staff doesn't need much help. How are you going to stop an outfit like that?"

Phils Noseout Giants 4 To 3

New York, July 3.—(P)—Curt Davis set the Giants back on their heels in two different ways today and led the Phils to a precedent-smashing ten inning victory over the Giants, 4 to 3. Among other things it was the first game the league leaders have lost on their own grounds to an eastern club this season.

Th Philly pitcher, hampered by a sore arm earlier this season, not only limited the Giants to seven hits, but won his own game in the tenth with a home run. It was his first circuit swat this year and the 12th off Hubbell in 18 games.

Hubbell, seeking his tenth victory, got off to a bad start when the Phils scored twice in the opening inning on a series of scratch hits and an error.

But the slender southpaw didn't allow another run until the sixth, when Camilli belted his 16th homer of the season.

RACES POSTPONED
Toledo, O., July 3.—(P)—Showers this afternoon and threatening weather tonight forced the postponement of the third night's program of the Grand Circuit racing tonight.

Weather permitting, two scheduled programs will be run off tomorrow at Fort Miami track. The afternoon and evening cards each will consist of four races. The Matron stakes with a purse of $4,000 will be the feature of the holiday and will be raced under the lights.

Several of the horses entered in this event are candidates for the $40,000 Hambletonian stakes in August at Goshen, N. Y.

Leach, southpaw flinger allowed only four hits in making his first start in a Jacksonville twilight league game. Gustines had a bad evening afield, however, piling up seven errors.

Tigers Defeat Indians 11 To 7

Detroit, July 3.—(P)—The Detroit Tigers, aided by four errors by Roy Hughes of Cleveland, took the Tribe into camp today, 11-7. It was the Tigers third straight victory over the erstwhile second place holders.

Hughes threw the ball wide twice and booted two grounders, contributing to five Tiger runs.

It was a bad day for hurling staffs of both clubs. Hildebrand and Sorrell were the starters. Sorrell was yanked for Sullivan in the second after Cleveland jumped into a three run lead. Hildebrand left in the third and was replaced by Brown. Pearson finished for Cleveland and Cochrane called on Hogsett to twirl the last two frames.

Philadelphia, July 3.—(P)—A home run by Tony Lazzeri turned the tide of a pitching duel between Johnny Allen and Roy Mahaffey in favor of the Yankees today and led to a 2 to 0 victory over the Athletics.

Mahaffey allowed only four hits but in addition to the homer he gave a hit to Jesse Hill in the eighth, nicked Lou Gehrig with a pitched ball and loaded the sacks by walking George Silskirk after Lazzeri had sacrificed. A force-out produced the second run. Allen was touched for five blows and struck out eight, fanning Bob Johnson four times and Jimmie Fox twice.

Red Sox Swamp Senators 14 To 7

Boston, July 3.—(P)—The Boston Red Sox blasted three pitchers today while gaining their third straight win over the Washington Senators, 14-7.

Both teams were in a slugging mood, the Red Sox piling up 15 safeties and the Senators getting 12 off Johnny Welch, the tall right-hander. Buddy Myer, however, failed to get a hit in five tries, thereby breaking off his consecutive hitting streak at the 21-games mark.

The Boston sluggers fell on "Bump" Hadley for three runs in the first inning and drove him out of the box in the fourth, with none out. Lefty Bob Burke relieved him and lasted until the sixth, when Kress was dispatched to the mound by manager Bucky Harris.

Man From Navy is Speaker Tuesday At Nortonville Club

Raymond Spires, at Home on Furlough, Tells Four-H Boys of Naval Life

Raymond Spires, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Spires of the Nortonville community, who is home on a furlough from the navy, was the speaker Tuesday evening at the meeting of the Nortonville Four-H club. He has served two and a half years in the navy and is at present assigned to a battleship with the fleet in the Pacific.

Mr. Spires is a range finder on the big ship, his business being to locate the objective of fire for the big guns. He has a responsible position. There are 1,372 men aboard his ship. He explained to those present what the navy expects of a young man entering the service, and also what the recruit has a right to expect from the navy. He said that individual size does not count so much in the navy as in the army, and that often a small man has an advantage if the space on the ship in which he must work in action is cramped.

Mr. Spires has a leave of 21 days. Three days are required for the trip each way to and from the naval base. He says he likes the navy and will probably make a career of it.

Set Plans for Crime, Vice War

New York Police Department to Change Operators in Effort to Smash Various Control Rings.

MONEY IS AVAILABLE

New York — (AP) — The forces of law lined up in a solid front today for a finish fight against vice and crime in the nation's metropolis.

As Thomas E. Dewey, 33-year-old special prosecutor, shaped his plan to start a drive for the "destruction" of racketeering and organized crime, it was reported that Deputy Chief Inspector Henry Bruckman, grim foe of racketeers, would become head of the city's detectives next week.

His promotion to assistant chief inspector was said to be independent of the impending crime campaign, but followed Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine's declaration that Dewey would have full cooperation from the police department.

The fight against crime was bolstered further by the knowledge there would be no limitation of funds for the investigation.

Dewey faces the task of breaking down an underworld "business" whose annual tribute from society is estimated in excess of $100,000. He must dig into these phases of crime.

The numbers, or policy racket—Betting against variable numbers such as the daily share turnover in the stock market. A player can bet as little as one cent.

The poultry racket—Run by a shady triumvirate, according to the Department of Public Markets, Weights and Measures, who list themselves as business agents for the Teamsters' and Chauffeurs' unions. The "take" runs into millions. Example: It costs $60 to unload, crate and truck a car of poultry in Philadelphia, $189.50 in New York.

The prostitution racket—Organized trade in women controlled by a few "vice lords."

The bail-bond racket—Run by cheap pressure men. Women arrested for prostitution, it is charged, can gain freedom only by paying as much as $20 a week to "bonding" companies, who have been accused of repleading single procreants of times over as collateral.

The artichoke racket—All retailers, it is charged, must buy from a single firm whose executives under official scrutiny become nebulous. Eighty-five per cent of sales are to New York's 1,200,000 Italians.

The building trades racket—Conducted by terrorists under the cloak of unionism. Buildings under construction are bombed, burned or otherwise damaged on the pretext that "union" material or "union" workers are not being used.

Attention, Please! The Quintuplets Have the Floor

Here's a study in alert attention—the Dionne quintuplets posing for their 13-month "birthday" picture. Ceelle, Lette, Yvonne, center, and Annette, right, have their eyes fixed on some nursery incident with expressions ranging from grave concern to evident amusement. But while they sit bolt upright, tiny Marie and Emelie are content to sprawl prone, as Marie studies the camera lens and Emelie fondles a rubber doll. Not much escapes the keen interest and observation of these 10 bright eyes.

Japan's Ambitions To Gain Islands Is Blamed for Dispute

Japan Treats Lightly Note Protesting Activity on Siberian Frontier

(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press) Tokyo. —(P)—Japanese military ambitions to gain important islands in the Amur river—and Russia's determination to frustrate them—were given today in a Soviet explanation of the reasons behind the latest episodes in the three-year Russo-Japanese dispute over the Siberian frontier.

The Japanese government continued to show an inclination to dismiss lightly a Soviet warning, presented in a protest to Tokyo, that "grave consequences" are likely to ensue if Japanese troops and Manchukuan gunboats persist in entering what Moscow insists is Soviet territory.

The new presentation of the Soviet viewpoint insisted that the frontier situation, especially along the Amur river, is so fraught with danger that the Moscow government felt compelled to warn Tokyo of it in strong terms before something more serious resulted.

A Soviet official asserted that the Amur river islands, which the Soviet now holds by virtue of the Sino-Russian treaty, signed at Peking in 1860, are coveted by the Japanese for two reasons:

1. Because of their strategic importance.
2. Because many of the islands are reputed to be rich in alluvial gold. The dispute centered around the

French 'Henry Ford' Dies in Hospital

Forced Out of Plant, Andre Citroen Dies of Grief in Paris

Paris. —(P)—Andre Gustave Citroen, 57, the "Henry Ford of France," weakened by grief over the difficulties of his business, died in a hospital today after a lingering illness.

Citroen's vast automobile plant, once estimated to be worth 2,000,000,000 francs, was forced into receivership December 21, 1934, and its founder finally was forced out of any active management of his companies.

The short, canny engineer tried to remain as a technical adviser, but a financial investigation by auditors aroused such opposition from stockholders and creditors that Citroen finally disappeared.

In a statement placed in the Congressional Record, Cullin proposed federal regulation of the industry and outlawing of book blocking. He is supporting a bill by Representative Pettengill (D., Ind.) to declare motion pictures a public utility.

The New Yorker asserted that Hays, former postmaster general and chairman of the Republican national committee, instead of being a "Moses" leading the movies out of the cesspools was "in fact a lobbyist whose sole function was to keep the public off the producers."

FAN BREEZES

By ERNEST SAVAGE

Anyhow, from all indications, it is going to be a good day for golf, with the Nichols Park course offering a blind bogey tournament for its patrons.

This blind bogey, according to our understanding, is a rather intricate bit of figuring. Players select their own handicap before they leave the first tee—that is, they figure out how many strokes they will need to tour the course, and then name a handicapper stroke which will put them down close to par for the course, which is 64.

In the meantime, the starter has selected a number, probably between 60 and 70, and has written it down and placed it on a piece of paper and sealed it up tight in an envelope.

The task is to shoot the course and then turn in the score. If the handicap you selected is subtracted from the number of strokes needed for the 18 holes, and the result is the number written down on the piece of paper, you win.

But it's interesting because it gives the dubs just as much of a chance to win the golf ball prizes as it does the good golfers, in a certain degree. However, we've always felt that a dubs' game will vary more in total strokes needed for the 18 holes than will the number needed by a good player.

There's a bit of interesting baseball on tap for today, too, with the Beardstown club coming here for a game with the State Hospital Redlegs. The Redlegs have met Beardstown on the diamond every Fourth of July for so long that the game is becoming an institution.

Cuba Reports 15 Americans To New York

Members Of Liberal Commission Had Been Detained In Cuban Camp

By Edmund A. Chester Associated Press Foreign Staff Havana, July 3.—(P)—Fifteen members of a Liberal American commission which arrived last night to investigate conditions in Cuba were taken from a detention camp early tonight and placed aboard the Ward liner Oriente for deportation to New York.

Two New York school teachers, Regina Lazar and Mamie Keselinko, who arrived with the others aboard the Oriente, were held at Tiscornia detention camp tonight.

The Oriente was expected to sail about 9 P. M., eastern standard time. It was learned on unimpeachable authority that the government decided not to permit the Americans to enter Cuba either as immigrants or tourists, basing its action on the fact that two Cubans already have filed denunciations with the immigration department charging them with attempting to enter Cuba "to disturb peace."

Members of the "investigating commission" have been held since their arrival last night at the Tiscornia detention camp across the bay from Havana. The United States consulate communicated with them there today.

Headed by Clifford Odets, young Liberal playwright whose "Waiting for Lefty" attained considerable success on the New York stage and elsewhere, the 17 Americans, styling themselves "the commission to investigate social and labor conditions" in Cuba, said they planned to look into the "complete destruction of civil liberties" here.

Double Parking on South Main Street Will Be Prohibited

State Highway Cops Clear Cars, Warning Against Blocking Highway

"Double parking on South Main street in Jacksonville will not be tolerated for a moment. It must stop and we are going to see that it does," an officer of the State Highway Police department said yesterday morning.

"Tell them the highway is for travel, not for a parking place," the officer continued. "Double parking on South Main street is just the same as stopping a car on the hard road. It violates the traffic laws and state highway patrolmen have been instructed to break up the practice."

The officer said it makes no difference if someone is in the car. Double parking on South Main is illegal in any form. The street is controlled by the state highway department and several federal and state routes enter the city on South Main.

For several days state patrolmen have been carrying on their campaign against double parking on streets served by state routes. They also have been working on enforcement of the speed laws.

The arbitrator handed down the finding, which was appealed by the company to the commission. Hearings were held in Quincy. The present decision, rendered June 26, is the result.
